Helms Leads Foreign Invasion

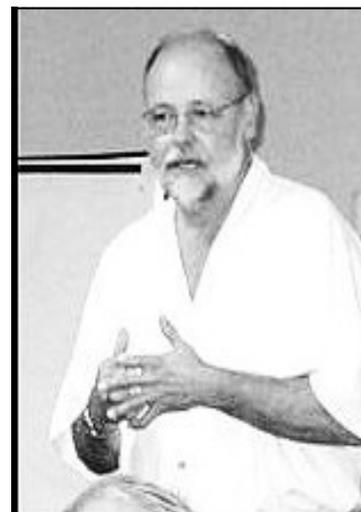

None of us can remember a Halifax Can-At that Jerry Helms has not attended.

Jerry, familiar to readers of the "Ask Jerry" column in the ACBL Bulletin—has once again agreed to be part of Kathie M a c N a b ' s 'IN' (Intermediate/ Novice) lecture series during the tournament. As always, Jerry and his teammates will be odds-on favorites to win most of the events, but playing at the same table with a person of the expertise and manners of Jerry is a reward in itself.

Also returning are long time supporters Arthur and Kay Lilly, Alan and Stephanie Colpitts, Jeff Phipps and Jim "Flash" Gordon, all from the great U.S.A. Arthur finally picked up some masterpoints in 2006 and a few T-shirts. This caused quite a shock, and we certainly don't expect a repeat in 2008.

Trying to fend off the foreign invaders will be local stars that include Bill Camp, Bill and Don Presse, John Stewart, Alan Doane, Eric Balkam, Bill Halliday, Rod MacKenzie and Gerry Callaghan. We are proud to add to this list Terry Shaw, who moved to Halifax from Ottawa last year with his patient and bridge-playing wife, Marcia.

Jerry Helms talks to the IN group at Can-At 2006

We expect the competition to be fierce but friendly, and we thank all of our great friends from south of the border for their continued attendance.

DIRECTOR, PLEASE!

We have a great directors' crew in Henry Cukoff (Montreal), Karl Hicks (Dominion) and Jacques LaFrance (Montreal).

Henry leads the directors' team for Canada's national championships, and has often been our head director. To assist him in his rulings we send him a Maritime Standard convention card well in advance and a bottle of aspirin.

Karl is our number one Sectional director. He directs regularly at the Bermuda Regional and at many ACBL National events. He has a great sense of humor and a collection of neckties second to none. If your partner leads out of turn, he may ask if you want a new one before he makes a ruling—he's kidding. Don't miss him at the Hospitality Suite after the evening session.

Most tournament players in eastern Canada have also benefited from Jacques' suave authority and general directorial savoir-faire. We are all glad to see him here again.

Note to novices: Don't be afraid of these guys; they're on your side.

Sitting at the bar, sipping a drink, and listening to music are good ways to relax after a day of bridge. I don't expect to sing to partner after every game--especially the bad ones--but I do know that, when partner is sitting across the table from me, it is to never his intention to torture me.

As a bridge player, I constantly search for the perfect partner. But as the years go on, I do realize that cloning myself is neither possible nor allowed under the rules of the game.*

So when I travel to a tournament, uncloned, having arranged games with the best available players, what should I, in reality, expect or hope for? If partner is also my mate, the answer is simple--survival of the relationship at all costs, even if I have to accept half

I reflect:

- Did I go ballistic tonight when partner passed a forcing bid or butchered that cold game?
- How about that defense of three no-trump where he refused to return my opening lead?
- Did I thank him for not criticizing my own bad plays (not that I recall making any) at the table?
- Partners are not a dime a dozen. Come to think of it, neither are friends. Nor mates.

the blame.

Not so much pressure in other situations. All I have to do is be nice for one or two events knowing that a wet bar and a new partner are not far in the future--visits to the hospitality suite and partnership desk will take care of that. But getting a new one, or renewing the old, will largely depend on my behavior, whatever the relationship.

*So, never leave me lonely,
Da da da da da da,
Now and forever,
Let it be me.*

And may God bless Willie, Elvis and partner.

Bartender, turn up the music! Give me another shot and easy on the Coke!
