Thursday night Alan Graves, bridge Grand Master, whose parents were born in the maritimes, addressed an eager audience. According to Alan, bridge is not a counting game but a pattern recognition game. He suggests that instead of counting trumps or other side suits once you can see two hands you can work out the possible distribution of the remaining cards. As you play you receive information that allows you to revise those possibilities. He recommends memorizing the possibilities with the aid of flash cards.

Lunch will be available tomorrow during the short break.

In Halifax for the Can-At, Mike Cappelletti answered questions on his famous Cappelletti Convention and surprised everyone by suggesting that a bid of a Cappelletti 2 diamonds over 1 NT to show as few as 4 - 4 in the majors would be successful 80% of the time. He unveiled his new convention CAPP2SQ (cappalletti two suit cue bid) to be used after the opponents have bid two suits to show values and uneven distribution in the other two unbid suits. If the bidding goes 1 club - pass - 1 heart to you and you have values in spades and diamonds you bid 2 clubs to show that your diamonds are longer than your spades or if your spades are longer you cuebid 2 hearts. You should have the same point count as you would use for a Michaels cuebid or an unusual 2 NT, keeping in mind the vulnerability. For a 4-4 distribution you would double and for 5-5 bid 2 NT.

His one piece of advice for advancing players was to learn to count cards and watch spots and remember that Bridge is a thinking game.
